Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scout movement throughout the world, at a ripe age, has gone to his reward. A hero, one of the few, of the Boer War, knighted for his valor, he left a legacy to the world, the value of which no one can appraise. Its value grows rapidly. Interest upon it is compounded daily. The fortune he bequeathed can make all humanity spiritually rich. As a factor in a world sadly battling primordial ferocities, the Boy Scout is potentially the builder of the world that must rise tomorrow from the ruin of today.

Oscar Kirkham, assistant regional director of the Boy Scouts, addressed the Grass Valley Rotary club Monday on Scouts and Scouting. He drew a moving picture of the movement in its sweep through all nations, except in a few totalitarian states which have abolished it. Mr. Kirkham, during his address illustrated his theme, with little vignettes, episodes, thumbnail sketches, if you like, of individual scouts and their achievements.

An Eagle Scout, was valedictorian at the graduation exercises of a famous school in Hawaii. The scouts, all brown lads of mixed races, were there in force. The Eagle Scout did a splendid job when his turn came to speak. Mr. Kirkham walked down the hall with him after the program was over, and asked: "Would you mind telling me who your grand parents were?" The boy replied: "My grandparents on my father's side were a Norwegian man and a Portuguese woman. On my mother's side they were a Chinese man and a Hawaiian woman."

Inquired Mr. Kirkham: "And just what nationality do you call yourself, if I may ask?" Replied the scout: "I am 100 per cent American."

On the island of Molokai, there is a leper colony. There are many children there, and among them has been formed a troop of Boy Scouts. Some with fingers sloughed away, some with ears crumbling, others partly blind, and still others with frightful lesions on their limbs or bodies. But they have the true scout spirit and are carrying on, their days filled with bright adventures and boy activities. To Mr. Kirkham on his visit there, they gave the scout salute and put on a special program in his honor.

And that reminds us of Robert Louis Stevenson's great, angry letter, written in defense of Father Damien. It has recently been republished in a volume entitled: "A Treasury of the World's Great Letters by M. Lincoln Schuster. Robert Louis Stevenson, who knew Molokai and its sad colony, was enraged by a criticism of Father Damien, then devoting his life to the leper colony, by a Protestant clergyman named the Rev. Dr. C. M. Hyde. Using his pen as a fine scalpel, he removed bit by bit every inch of spiritual hide from the Reverend Hyde. It is a letter that every scout should read along with all of Robert Louis Stevenson's books. For Stevenson was a great scout even though he died when the scout movement was just moving out of its swaddling clothes.

In this time of test in which all values of civilization are subjected to a fiery trial, the Boy Scouts are assigned a role of major importance in national life. Theirs to merit the trust that their founder reposed in them, a trust, indeed, that all free peoples have and do repose in them. For they are the stout link that couples all the fine achievements of past generations with whatever is fine in the generations to come.

Program For Students to Gain Occupational Experience Again Offered At Local High School

Nevada City High School senior students again have the opportunity of gaining practical experience in the occupations they wish to follow upon graduation.

H. E. Kjorlie, city superintendent of schools, today announced the unique method of giving students work experience started this week with the cooperation of local business concerns and will continue throughout the semester.

Students Work Half Day

For the duration of the apprenticeship course the students will attend school half a day and will work at their chosen profession in various stores and offices the remainder of the school day.

The high school seniors will be given credits toward graduation on the same basis as academic subjects for the time spent on their "jobs."

"The purpose of the program," Kjorlie said, "is to give work experience to students prior to their graduation and provide an opportunity to determine whether they are suited to the trade or vocation of their choice."

Last year's program was a decided success. Under the direction of Superintendent Kjorie, the idea of giving practical training to senior students was pioneered in Nevada City. Susanville High School has adopted the plan and it is expected many other high schools in the northern part of the state will follow suit.

Labor Endorses Program

The program has the endorsement of the Carpenters Union and the Mine Workers Protective League, indicating that labor is in accord with the idea of the unusual apprenticeship training.

Superintendent Kjorlie also has a letter from the state labor commission showing that body has no objection to the plan.

Kjorlie reports he has received splendid cooperation from the business firms of this city in the program. The students and the firms with which they will be connected for the period of training are:

Students Participating

Popular Lecture Series Will Be Presented Again

The popular "Open Forum" series of lectures sponsored by the Nevada City Unified School District will again be presented this year.

The lecture series will open on March 6th and will continue once each week, excluding Easter week, until eight lectures are given.

The series will be opened by Steven Barooshian of the Placer Junior College, who will lecture on March 6th and March 13th.

Dr. Knowles Will Lecture

Dr. Tully Knowles, president of the College of Pacific, will lecture on March 20th. Barooshian's third lecture will be on March 27th, followed by the appearance here again of Dr. Knowles on April 3rd.

On April 17th, April 24th and May 1st, Dr. G. A. Werner, professor of history at the College of Pacific, will lecture.

The lectures will be given at the Nevada City Elementary School auditorium.

H. E. Kjorlie said the "Open Forum" will be conducted the same as last year. The forum is of interest to scores of residents of this city.

HIGH SCHOOL P.T.A. PROGRAM

The High School PTA will hold its regular meeting on Friday at three o'clock with H. E. Kjorlie in charge of the program.

A string sextette under the direction of Ralph Smith will entertain, and the high school chorus under Mrs. Marian Libbey's direction will sing.

During the business session a nominating committee will be elected, and during the afternoon refreshmenst will be served.

AUTO ACCIDENT CAUSES INJURIES TO LOCAL YOUTH

Tommy Mutz, local taxi driver, is recovering at his home on Long Street here from injuries suffered early yesterday morning when a car reportedly operated by George Williams left the Tahoe-Ukiah Highway near the old Nevada City Ski Course and crashed into a cement abutment.

Williams was also injured but was able to go to his home after emergency treatment by Dr. W. W. Reed.

Highway Patrolman Carl Kitts investigated the accident. The operator of the car, according to Kitts, was driving at a high rate of speed and apparently left the highway when it skidded.

Makes Stockton Trip—

Undersheriff William D. Woods made a trip to Stockton Tuesday with an insane patient.

NARROWS DAM ENGINEER PASSES

Funeral services were held yesterday in Stanford Memorial chapel, Stanford University, for the late Franklin Bolzinger, one of the U. S. engineers in charge of construction at the Narrows Dam. He and his wife lived in Grass Valley during his duty at the dam.

The deceased was of Swiss ancestry born in New Orleans in 1887, and graduated from Stanford in 1915 with an A. B. degree in civil engineering. He was a world war veteran with the 316th Engineers, 91st division, fought at San Mihiel and Argonne Forest, and following the war entered the service of Standard Oil. For 14 years he was supervisor of utilities for that company with headquarters at Richmond. During recent years he has worked on the Oakland Bridge approaches, the O'Shaughnessy plan for San Francisco, the Santa Clara Conservation District, the Benecia Arsenal dam, and flood control work for California.

Mr. Bolzinger died at night of coronary thrombosis.

Surviving him are his wife, Elinor and daughter Rosemary, his mother and sister and two brothers. He is the son of the late Bruno Bolzinger, for many years professor emeritus at Stanford University.

TRIP THROUGH IDAHO-MARYLAND MINE, LOMA RICA RANCHO AND SNOW SPORTS AT NEVADA CITY'S COURSE PLANNED FOR VISITORS

Come to us next Saturday and Sunday and we will give you a grand and glorious good time.

That, in brief, is the invitation that has gone out to all members of the Tahoe-Pacific Highway No. 20 association that is scheduled to meet here this week-end. All Chambers of Commerce along this great scenic route which heads up at Lake Tahoe, 6000 above sea level, and ends at Fort Bragg on the Pacific ocean, are members of the association and their members, generally speaking are also association members.

Large Crowd Expected Here

President Bert Foreman, and Secretary H. F. Sofge, of the Nevada City Chamber have been active in the Tahoe-Pacific Highway No. 20 association, in fact they are among the founders. They expect a record crowd here. For at the other end of the road, Fort Bragg, more than 75 guests attended the association meeting there a few months ago

The National Hotel will be headquarters for the visitors. A hospitality committee will meet the delegates and offer all services possible to insure their enjoyment of their stay here.

Entertainment Offered

The dinner Saturday night at seven o'clock will be followed by an hour's entertainment. There will be music during the dinner and the program following will include a high school chorus under the direction of Mrs. Marian Libbey, vocal solos, a violin solo, movies of the snow fields in Norway, Sweden and Nevada County.

Sunday morning the guests will be taken through the surface workings of one of the big mines, and will be shown Errol MacBoyle's famous stable of race horses. They will be taken to the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce ski course at Omega Hill near Steep Hollow. All visitors have been asked to bring skis and toboggans to give this new course a thorough trial. The Nevada City Ski club is participating in the event.

Trips Are Planned

Those visitors who do not care for the trip to the snow fields and ski courses will be shown the many places of historic interest in Nevada City and environs. They may visit the city's airport and obtain a splendid view of the surrounding country. They may visit Pioneers Park and note the progress the city has made in providing recreational facilities, not only for the families residing here, but for visitors as well.

Return From South—

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schiffner have returned from Southern California, where they spent several days in a vacation trip.

ARMY CANTONMENT MAY BE ESTABLISHED IN EASTERN END OF NEVADA COUNTY SOON

Harry Landsberg, one of the officials of the Los Angeles Iron and Steel Company which three years ago purchased the property of the Hobart Lumber Company at Hobart Mills, seven miles north of Truckee, announced negotiations are being made to lease the property to the government for an army cantonment.

Landsberg said he and his brother, Joseph Landsberg, had been consulting with officers of the 9th Corps Area in San Francisco and that indications are favorable for completion of the transaction

Many Facilities

The town, deserted when the lumbering industry there was discontinued, has sixty private dwellings, nearly all uniform in structure and with molern conveniences, including plumbing, water, electricity, sewers and in some instances steam heat.

There are twenty seven barracks, erected last year by the CCC, a large mess hall capable of serving 2,000 men, a hospital, hotel and annex modern in construction

The town, Landsberg points out, is located ideally for training ski soldiers. Snow is available all winter, the roads are open all year. Airplane fields are nearby.

Has Railroad Connection

The Southern Pacific Railroad is only seven miles from Hobart Mills and the Western Pacific only a few miles further at the north, offering accessible transportation facilities. A state highway connects Hobart Mills, which is in the eastern end of Nevada County, with Truckee.

A small winter training camp has been located on Donner Summit but it is proposed, according to reports, to have the one at Hobart Mills similar to the Mt. Rainier quarters, housing approximately 2,000 officers and enlisted men.

PLENTY OF SNOW

A heavy new fall of snow has assured excellent skiing for the weekend at the Nevada City Ski Course on Omega Hill. The pack at the local ski course is in excess of 40 inches and at Steep Hollow more than 50 inches.

This is good news to local chamber of commerce officials, who plan festivities in the snow Sunday for members of the Tahoe-Pacific Highway 20 Association who attend the meeting here during the weekend.

Lecture On Battle of Britain To Be Given Tonight In G. V.

Lieutenant Colonel Rhys Davies, D. S. O., of the Bureau of Information of the British Empire Service League, will speak tonight in the Veterans Memoria Building in Grass Valley for the benefit of the British War Relief.

Besides the lecture of Colonel Davies, which will be upon "The Battle of Britain," there will be a concert by Harold George's orchestra and singing by the California-Cornish Gold Mining Singers.

The winning tickets on the oil paintings which are being raffled for the BWR will be drawn tonight. The oil paintings are now in display in the Pacific Gas and Electric Company office in Nevada City.

The lecture and concert tonight is being sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion and Canadian Legion.

Colonel Davies arrived in Nevada City Monday and since that time has been in constant demand as a speaker before service clubs and various other organizations. The British war hero, who is in constant touch with the British Intelligence Service, will leave tomorrow. While in this county he has been the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Foreman of Nevada City.

WPA Worker Dies At County Hospital

Smith was a native of Pennsylvania. He entered the hospital for treatment several days ago.

Total Rainfall For Year Reaches 50 Inches

The rainfall figures for the year reached the 50 inch mark during this week's storm.

The heavy fall of rain did not interfere with traffic to any extent on the highways in this vicinity. The state division of highways maintenance office here reported no serious slides occurred on the Downieville road and the snow plows had no trouble in keeping the Tahoe-Ukiah Highway open to travel.

The full amount of rain last year was only 27 inches. The normal for this district is 50 inches.

Musical selections were rendered by Mrs. Genevieve Elliott, Mrs. Madeline Draper and Ralph Smith. The evening closed with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner.

SKI LIFT MAY BE READY FOR USE BY SUNDAY

Skiing exercises will be given members of the newly formed Nevada City Ski Club at the Elementary School Auditorium tomorrow night.

The exercises will follow a short business meeting, which will be presided over by President Dwight Steele.

World Impovished

"All mankind faces an economically and morally impoverished world," declares former President Herbert Hoover. "If we are inclined to disbelieve that, we need but to listen to the voice of experience. All nations share the ill effects of war."

"In the war expansion of agriculture, the United States plowed up 60 million acres of pasture, and the demoralization resulting from the surplus of this cultivation vexes the nation down to this day," points out this administrator, who has been battling the problem since the last war. "Recovery could have come long since, but so economically unified is the planet that constant shocks from Europe defeated that effort time and time again."

"I spent nearly a score of years dealing with the invisible forces which make for war, peace, and revolution," Hoover, the man who fed Belgium, says. "For years it was my sole occupation to care for the homeless, the foodless, the frightened and the helpless. And when one speaks to me of war, I think of its human cost—not alone in terms of misery while it is in progress, but also in terms of its backwash that affects the minds and souls of men as well as bodie ins the years that follow."

Yet Hoover feels that scientific research into the fundamental laws of nature contributes to the moral and spiritual life of mankind. "Here is the inculcation of veracity of thought in a world sodden with intellectual dishonestry," he says. "Here is confirmation of a supreme guidance in the universe, far above man himself!"

Advice From The Bench

Eight points that, if followed by parents, will keep their young out of the juvenile courts are offered by Ernest L. Reeker, judge of the County Court (Juvenile Division) of Madison, Nebraska, in the current issue of The Rotarian Mazagine.

"Wealth, position, and family are no defense against crime," he stresses. "Children come to me because their parents did not measure up to their task!" The statistics show that nearly 6 million parents have failed.

Judge Reeker places "the meaning of true discipline" and "the dignity of labor" as the first two of the fundamentals which 16 years of daily association with the problems have brought home.

Third, "an awareness of the value of money," he continues. Fouth, "stress self-reliance;" fifth, "encourage curiosity." Judge Reeker does not attempt to place the last few in any order of importance, but he lists: "good manners—vitally important" sixth; seventh, "encourage a spirit of play;" and eighth, religious instruction. "The child a stranger to church and Sunday school most often comes afoul of the law."

But Judge Reeker emphasizes the fact that the parent, not the child, is the responsible party. "Correct first the error in yourself; then put your child back in the parade of good citizens," he pleads.

The Present Lesson

Look at American industry moving today to turn out defense equipment and to make itself, as the president has demanded, the world's great "arsenal of democracy."

Daily increasing in momentum, it is becoming like a mighty river at floodtide, offering a stirring example of what free men can do by working together when they really set themselves to the task. There are still eddies and slow currents in the river—sure—but as time goes on, they too will become part of the main stream.

Industry is picking up speed every moment. In the last twelve months it produced a total of nearly 6,000 army and navy planes and sent at least 400 heavy bombers alone to help defend Great Britain. The biggest number of these came in the past three months, which means a rate of production that will produce many, many more planes this year.

The same is true of all other types of military materials. Lately there have come reports that American all-wheel drive motor trucks made in Indianapolis were used in the successful British campaign against Sidi Barrani and Bardia and Tobruk in far-away Africa. Reports like these will soon be commonplace; and all around us, meanwhile, will be a vastly increased number of articles for America's own direct defense.

There is a lesson in this tremendous and speedy achievement of industry. It shows that when industry is given a reasonably free hand and the governmental confidence to answer problems—however complex their nature—it can really do the job superlatively well. This a a moral too lately apparent to be applied to the depression years which this nation endured during the past decade, of course. But government and the other groups in our economy would be wise and America-minded if they continued to remember it when the present emergency is ended.—Contributed.

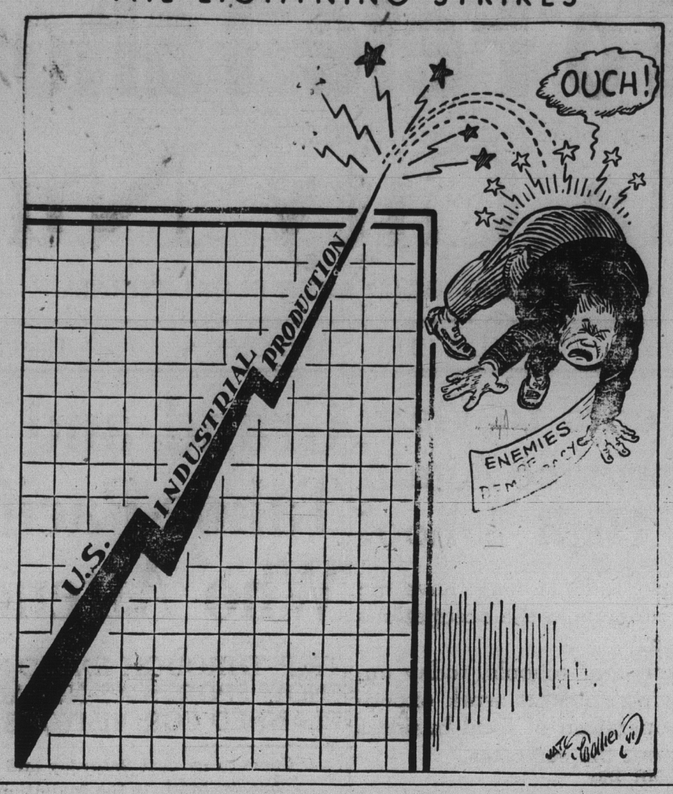
THE LIGHTNING STRIKES



Just Wonderin'

I wonder at the silly things
Totalitarians do;
I'm sure the habits they acquire
Would irk both me and you;
Although we love a home town rally,
Goose stepping isn't up our alley.

I wonder as the world holds its breath in anticipation of Hitler's next crime wave, if we may find relief in a few twisted smiles at the ridiculous figure he has made of himself.

He, the great one, is just an ordinary man, with a Charlie Chaplin moustache under his nose, strutting about in the absurd belief that he has been divinely appointed to conquer and subdue the world and impose his silly rules of conduct upon every individual therein. Shorn of his military machine, he would be a comic opera figure, de luxe; with it, he is a Frankenstein monster in motly. Millions fear him, millions hate him and millions smile their twisted smiles at his expense.

The most positive proof of Hitler's over stuffed egoism is found in the system of heiling imposed upon those over whom he holds despotic sway. In Germany, Heil is not a salutation; linked with the name of der fuehrer, it is now a fetish.

Imagine this: two friends meet in a German thoroughfare; once they would have exchanged a cheery, guten morgen, or an equally cheery wie gehts; now however, the rules are different. So "heil Hitler," says one and "heil Hitler," says the other. After a few moments spent in discussing the new order in Europe, it is time to part, so—"heil Hitler," says one and, "heil Hitler," says the other. Two people wish to use the telephone, but for them there is no mild "hello", so "heil Hitler", says one, and "heil Hitler," says the other. When ready to hang up, "heil Hitler," says one and "heil Hitler", says the other. A romantic young German goes to call upon his lady love; as she opens the door to admit him, "heil Hitler," says he and, "heil Htiler," says she. Later when the hour of departure has struck they do not whisper the beautiful words, "auf wieder sehm, my dear," instead, "heil Hitler", says he and "heil Hitler," says she. In closing a letter one does not write, "yours truly, or yours anything else," one inscribes the words, "heil Hitler," and then appends his own unimportant name, perhaps several spaces below. Heily intelligent, this constant heiling, isn't it?

I wonder if you read the article, titled "A Visit to Berchtesgaden, published in the February issue of the Readers' Digest. If you did not, please do so and enjoy an unusually rare and worthwhile treat.

Will the Germans take the place of the Jews in the future history of mankind? Are the processes of dispersion even now evidenced by the movements of conquering hosts and armies of occupation? Can Hitler deprive neighboring nations of all that makes life worth living, without destroying his own people and drawing them into that maelstrom of retribution which must eventually engulf them?

These and many other startling questions ares answered by the author of A Visit to Berchesgaden. After reading this article, you will wish to thank him for having led your mind into new and stimulating avenues of thought.

NATIONAL GUARD OFFICERS GET NEW ORDER

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 13—(UP)—Adjutant General R. E. Mittelstaedt advised national guard unit commanders today that they are forbidden to enlist registrants under the selective service act who have been ordered to report for induction.

If such a registrant were enlisted in the national guard, Mittelstaedt said, it would result in his local draft board being unable to fill its quota.

The adjutant general said a similar order was issued by the commander of the ninth corps area to regular army recruiting officers.

E. E. Hoss, manager of the Grass Valley-Nevada City telephone offices, is back at work. For several weeks Hoss was incapacitated because of a broken ankle sustained in a fall. The telephone manager is still using crutches.

"Daddy, what are ancestors?"

"Oh, I'm one of yours and granddad is another."

"Then why do people brag about them?"

ROTARY CHEERS ACHIEVEMENTS OF SCOUT TROOP

The Rotary club today at luncheon had as guests several members of Troop 24, Boy Scouts, of which the club is sponsor. Cecil Klee, scout master, Dwight Steele, associate scout master, and Merril Morrison, past scout master, with several of the boys took part in a deeply interesting program.

Among the boys who participated were three candidates for Eagle Scout, who are to receive their badges at the regional camporee at Roseville this spring. These three are James Morrison, Bill Hollander and Ernie Helm. These boys all gave short addresses concerning their work, the scout laws, and the achievements of Troop 24. Patrol leader Warren Smith, Steve Martin, Bob Sharp, Stanley Foreman, Ronald Bell, Dick Green and Clayton Allen were other boys who either gave short talks or demonstrated knot tying and first aid.

Harrison Randall was chairman of the day.

GERMAN FARMERS DO MORE THAN FEED SOLDIERS

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

One of the oldest military precepts is that "an army travels on its stomach"—and the traditional role of the farmer during war time, in bygone years, has been that of feeding and clothing the men at the front.

That old time maxim still holds good; day and night work, back on the farm, still determines whether armies in the field can be fed and clothed and kept in top physical condition so that they are equal to the tremendous demands made upon them.

News is starting to seep through from Europe, however, of many new roles which the farmer must play in modern, mechanized warfare—news which may bring home to California farmers the drastic changes which will doubtless be made in their scheme of things, if this country is plunged into war.

Britain, in its bombing attacks on Germany's great industrial centers, has done tremendous damage, but has failed to knock out Hitler's industrial machine for the significant reason that Nazi industrial production has been decentralized. Literally thousands of farms in Germany, it has been learned, have been turned into production and assembly plants—turning out parts for planes, tanks, guns and other war equipment, and in other instances assembling parts from other farms to turn out completed units.

Immediately after he seized power in 1933, Hitler started a drive for rural electrification and was successful in seeing that most farms were powerized. Then he pushed the sale of portable electric motors, theoretically for agricultural purposes. In 1937, according to reports of United States observes sealed crates were delivered to all electrified farms in Germany—to be left unopened until further orders. When finally opened, the contents turned out to be machine tools for manufacturing weapons. There followed shipments of semi-finished materials. Then the farmer was taught how to make rivets for use in airplanes, how to punch holes in armor plate for tanks, how to drill a hole in a connecting rod.

Assembly plants (on farms) were kept small. In many cases, a plant can only turn out one bomber a week—but there are so many plants that British bombers can't destroy any appreciable number of them without terrific cost in planes and men.

Great Britain, on the other hand, has balked attempts of German bombing squadrons to destroy her aircraft on the ground, as in Poland, Belgium, Holland and France, by scattering bases for her home defense planes all over the countryside. Barns on hundreds of British farms house fighter planes, which sweep into the sky at the first warning of approaching enemy bombers. In many other farming areas, camouflaged by normal farming activities, there are huge underground airdromes—where Britain houses squadrons of bombers and fighters. But none is so large that its destruction would seriously damage the R. A. F. The whole military machine has been decentralized, but tens of thousands of farmers in both Germany and Britain are literally part of the front line forces—not simply the men who feed the armies at far distant fronts.

Adding to the significance of this news from overseas is the fact that Rural Electrification Administrator Harry Slatery, acting under direct instructions from the White House, has already laid the foundation for similar decentralization of war-time industries in this country, with the farm cast in the leading role.

DEFENSE STARTS IN MURDER TRIAL AT MARYSVILLE

Attorneys for James Turner, 32, on trial for his life in the superior court of Yuba County, for the Armistice Day slaying at Challenge of Boyd E. Stevenson, 25, Pacific Gas and Electric Company employee at Lake Spaulding and well known in this city, began the defense case today.

The prosecution rested its case this morning after recalling Sheriff Charles McCoy to the stand.

Turner is expected to base his plea on self defense and accident. In his opening statement to the jury, Oscar Goldstein, defense counsel, said it would be shown Turner's gun discharged accidentally as he sought to defend himself from an attack by Stevenson and two companions.

An important witness is expected to be Turner's wife, Betty, who assertedly was insulted by Stevenson and his compaion. The insult led up to the shooting in which Stevenson was killed.

Sheriff McCoy's testimony was concerned largely with a statement made by Turner after the shooting in which he said the men hit him with a bottle and that in the scuffle the gun went off.

COOKIES FOR THE KIDDIES

The other evening after I finished my work I went home, had my dinner and started baking cookies. Our chemist and his wife dropped in so she helped me while he stood by and told us how to do it. We had lots of fun even though we did spend the evening in the kitchen baking cookies.

Here is one of the recipes we used—try it sometime. No doubt the children would enjoy these cookies with a glass of milk when they come home from school.

LAURA SCUDDER'S PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES

1 cup brown sugar	1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup white sugar	1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs	1 cup shortening
3 cups flour	1 teaspoon vanilla

1 cup Laura Scudder's Nutty Grind Peanut Butter

METHOD: Cream the sugar and shortening. Add the Laura Scudder's Nutty Grind Peanut Butter. Then add one egg at a time, beating well after each egg is added. Sift flour well, add salt and baking powder and then add to the mixture, add vanilla. Roll into one-inch balls and flatten the balls both ways with a fork. This will make one hundred delicious cookies. Bake for fifteen minutes at a temperature of 350°.

Sincerely,

Laura Scudder

GOVERNOR SIGNS BILL TO TRAIN JR. COLLEGE BOYS

Governor Culbert L. Olson has signed Assembly Bill 224 which permits junior colleges to participate in the California High School Cadet military program. Assemblyman Allen G. Thurman of this district was author of the bill. It contained an urgency clause as a defense measure and became a law following the signature of the governor approving the bill. The new law will permit Placer Junior College in Auburn to join the cadet military training program which has just been instituted in Placer Union high school.

The state legislature, just prior to its recent recess, passed an assembly joint resolution memoralizing congress and the president of the United States to exempt all income from gold mining from all excess profits taxes, as was done under the excess profits tax law of 1917.

The resolution was introduced in the assembly by Assemblyman Rodney Turner of Kern County and Allen G. Thurman, of this district.

The resolution which passed both houses of the legislature follows:

Whereas, It has always been the policy of our government to encourage the production of gold as a basis of our currency and as the ultimate and universal standard of value in trade among the peoples of the world and the continued and increased production of gold is vital to the maintenance of our public credit; and

Whereas, Owing to the fact that the price of gold is fixed, the current increases in the cost of labor and materials are now seriously limiting the opportunity for profitable mining of gold, and any further handicaps on gold production will further discourage investment in gold mining enterprises; and

Whereas, The production of gold and its sale at a fixed price amounts in fact merely to the marketing and ultimate exhaustion of existing assets, and no excess profits can be earned from such production, but the rate of production only can be increased or diminished; and

Whereas, Many gold mining enterprises have been conducted and are being conducted by companies with limited capital, and have operated without substantial profits in past years, and the imposition of excess profits taxes on such companies would seriously cripple all such small enterprises; and

Whereas, All gold mining companies which have been operating at a profit expend very substantial amounts out of their earnings in prospecting and exploratory work, a large part of which would necessarily be curtailed in the event that the profits heretofore devoted to such work were taken in excess profits taxes; and

Whereas, For the foregoing reasons, excess profits taxes on the production of gold are economically unsound, and result in the discouragement of investment in gold mining, curtail production and increase unemployment, and strike all mining enterprises, large and small; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the assembly and the senate of the State of California, jointly, That the legislature of the State of California hereby memoralize the congress and the president of the United States to exempt all income from gold mining from all excess profits taxes, as was done under the Excess Profits Tax Law of 1917; and be it further

Resolved, That the chief clerk of the assembly is hereby directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the president of the United States, the secretary of the treasury, the respective chairmen of the senate financing committee and of the House Ways and Means committee, and to each of the senators and epresentatives in congress from the State of California.

NEW PEAK IN MOTOR TRAVEL IS FORECAST

Recreational travel by American motorists appears to be headed toward a new record volume this year, it was stated by the California State Automobile Association in a report issued today reviewing the motor touring outlook for 1941.

Preliminary information on last year's travel tide indicates that expenditures by tourists during 1940 equalled if not surpassed the all-time high of approximately 5 billion dollars established in 1939, the report said.

"Looking ahead at travel prospects for 1941", the report continued, "there seem to be no reason why this high volume of travel in the United States should not rise to still higher figures. In addition to domestic travel, there are grounds for expecting that there will be a marked increase in trips by Americans to other objectives in the western hemisphere.

"Canadian travel which suffered last year as a result of mistaken ideas as to wartime regulations at the border, should benefit this year by reason of a clearer understanding of the actual simplicity of those regulations. Mexican travel, which was retarded by a disturbed political condition in that country, already is on the upswing with the removal of that deterrent."

Among the factors cited by the report as indicating a strong flow of tourist travel last year were automobile registrations at the highest point in history; new car sales running well ahead of the preceding year; gasoline consumption approximately 6 per cent higher than in 1939; new record totals of visitors to national parks and other recreational areas; and the heavy volume of routings handled by motor club touring bureaus.

Engineer David Richard Transferred To Regional Office By Forest Service

Word has been received by forest supervisor Guerdon Ellis of the Tahoe national forest from the regional forester in San Francisco, that Assistant Forest Engineer David Rickard is to be transferred to the regional office on February 19. This transfer results in a promotion to Mr. Richard to fill an important position in the regional engineering department. Mr. Richard came to Nevada City in February of 1940 from that office.

Supervisor Ellis also announces that Miss Gertrude Segrue of Reedley, California, has accepted a civil service probational appointment as a junior stenographer in the supervisor's office. She will report for duty on February 13th.

"Why did you lose your job at the gown shop?"

"Well, near the end of a very hectic day a fussy fat woman came in. After I tried about twenty dresses on her, she said she thought she would look better in something flowing, so I told her to go jump in the river."

RUTH CHATTETON IN "PYMALION" AT SACTO. FEB. 22

Ruth Chatterton, one of the theatre's brightest stars, who went to Hollywood to become "the first lady of the screen," has returned to her first love, the stage, to portray G. B. Shaw's delightful little flower girl, "Eliza Doolittle," in "Pygmalion." On a nation wide tour, Miss Chatterton has scheduled George Washington's birthday, February 22, for her engagement in Sacramento.

Both a matinee and evening performance will be played, accomodating theatre goers from all parts of Northern California who wish to see the show and return to their homes on the holiday. It will be seen in the new Sacramento high school auditorium at 35th and Broadway, Sacramento.

Probably the most famous and popular of all Shaw's plays Pygmalion is the story of the phonetics professor who took a Cockney cabbage leaf and by the magic of good grammar and drawing room manners turned her into a lady who would pass inspection at Buckingham palace.

Auriol Lee, noted woman director of the American and English theatre, staged the production for Miss Chatterton. Barry Thomson and Dennis Hoey are featured in the supporting company which includes Richard Temple, Margaret Moffat, Myrtle Tannahill, Hayden Rorke, Alice John, Eleanor Wilson, Mortimer J. Weldon, Arthur Gilmour, Velma Royton, Jean Kemper.

Tickets for Pygmalion are on sale now at the Ware-Hazelton box office at Weinstock'Lubin's, Sacramento.

UNCLE SAM GOES TO WORK

Ordinarily Uncle Sam's all dressed up. He wears a high hat and a long tailed coat. His boots are pretty elegant and shiny and there's an air of success about him. He's ready to go anywhere and meet anybody.

But today he's laid that tall hat aside and he's pulled a worker's cap over his grizzled hair. He's taken off his good coat too, and he's wearing, appropriately enough, overalls. For overalls are a good, old American costume. He's in his shirt sleeves with his collar turned in. Because he's going to work.

The biggest job he's ever undertaken lies before him. He's got to build a lot of new equipment he thought he'd never have to bother with again and he's got to train a million or so young men, that he had hoped would be able to lead pretty undisturbed lives, to be soldiers. He hasn't time for that high hat for awhile. He's got to build planes—hundreds upon hundreds of them. He's got to turn out tanks—thousands of them. He must build great battleships and submarines and guns that shoot toward the sky.

And that isn't all. He has to turn carpenter and build dozens of great cantonments where about a million American men will be able to live comfortably and healthfully while they learn to be soldiers. And he must make clothes for these men and shoes and blankets.

Yes mam, he's going to be busy these next few months. His cap and overalls will be his regular costume And that's the way you'll see him on more than 15,00 outdoor billboards this month and next. He's pulling his cap on in this big picture and looking thoughtfully out of the stern blue eyes under bristling brows.

This is the way the National Association of Manufacturers whose members are largely actually responsible for building out defense needs, visualize Uncle Sam at the present time. With the aid of the outdoor advertising industry, through its many agencies in every part of the country, they have set this symbol of our nation against a background of factories buckling down to the hardest work he's ever done.

There's a real job ahead. It's got to be done. American freedom, which is more precious to us than life itself, must be defended. It's Uncle Sam's job to do this. And in this country everybody is Uncle Sam. You and me and the people next door; the man at the factory and the man who runs the factory. The storekeeper and the doctor and the housewife. it takes us all to make Uncle Sam.

So look for the new poster and thrill with pride at the stern old gentleman who's goin' to work!

WHO WINS TRIP TO HAWAH BY BEST SPEECH?

With a vacation trip to Hawaii as a reward for the winner, the California Bankers Association has announced its state wide high school public speaking contest on "The Responsibility of American Citizenship."

"The sole purpose of this contest," according to H. A. Curnow, manager, Bank of America N. T. & S. A., speaking for the bankers of Nevada City, "is to stimulate among the youth of California a deeper appreciation of the principles, ideals and responsibilities of American citizenship."

Each student will be given an opportunity to choose his subject from a wide variety of vital and timely topics directly related to the contest theme. These include:

Youth's Responsibility in National Defense—Keeping Faith With America—Can American Youth Meet the Challenge of Foreign Isms?—Responsibility for the Cost of Self Government—The Civic Duties of Youth—Requirements of a Free People—American Youth and the Maintenance of Free Enterprise—New Frontiers for American Youth—Youth's Responsibility in a Democracy—What Do I Offer America?

In addition to the Hawaiian trip, vacations at Camp Curry in Yosemite Valley, Aetna Springs in Napa County and Catalina Island will be given other winners. Parents will enjoy these prizes too, as each student winning a vacation trip may invite a parent to accompany him. Silver trophies will be presented to the winning regional championships, while county and zone winners will receive gold medals. Each student participating in the contest will receive an honor award bearing an inspiring charge of citizenship.

The championship finals will be held in the auditorium of the Veterans War Memorial Building, San Francisco, on the evening of May 9.

STATE CHAMBER URGES ECONOMY OFFSET U. S. TAX

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13—Any hope of a surplus in the state's general fund will vanish if the legislature passes special appropriation bills in any substantial amount, members of the California State Chamber of Commerce are warned in a bulletin issued today.

The bulletin, prepared by the state chamber's taxation department, analyses the 1941-43 state budget, and points out that following consideration of the budget, the legislature will consider special appropriation bills, which may run into tens of millions of dollars.

While general fund revenues during the coming biennium are estimated to exceed collections for the current biennium by $41,127,289, this is not due to tapping new sources of income, but rather to a greater yield from existing sources. Defense spending and other factors art stimulating business activity, which in turn is causing a correspondingly greater flow of money into the state treasury. This is contributing in a large measure to liquidation of the deficit.

It is not expected, the bulletin says, that defense prosperity will last indefinitely and when it ceases, state revenues fom existing sources will doubtless decline. In the meantime, the liquidation of the present deficit should take precedence over all special appropriation bills, except the most urgent.

In pointing out the opportunity for economy, the bulletin says that "while the general fund budget for 1941-43 is less than actual general fund expenditures during the current biennium, this is not the result of economy in the usual sense."

The bulletin computes reduction in expenditure items totaling $52,-000,000, of which $40,634,579 is represented in reduced relief expenditures, made possible through the defense activity, "yet the general fund budget for the next biennium is but $28,571,641 less than actual expenditures for this biennium. Thus other general fund expenditure items have been increased to the extent of about $23,000,000. Part of this increase represents the growth in fixed charges, but a substantial part consists of increases in the budgets of the various departments and the agencies of state government. This suggests an opportunity for further economy in state spending."

With regard to eventual reduction of state taxes, the bulletin says that "with revenues from existing sources pointing upward and the anticipated accumulation of a general fund surplus, the new state budget suggests the opportunity for an eventual reduction in the rates of certain state taxes.

"Economy in state spending during the next biennium should speed the arrival of the day when state tax rates can be cut. The importance of this objective is emphasized by the fact that federal taxation for national defense has added $100,000,000 to California's tax bill this year, and can be expected to add more in the future .Inasmuch as most of the federal tax burden falls on the same base as the state tax burden, a reduction in states taxes would temper the impact of defense taxation."

RELIEF LOAD IN NEVADA COUNTY FLUCTUATES

In Nevada County, the four kinds of relief administered by the county welfare department showed the following trends in 1940, January and November case loads compared: county indigent aid, down from 81 in January to 78 in November; persons receiving aged aid up from 435 in January to 487 in November; persons receiving aid to the needy blind, 18 in January to 20 in November; children receiving orphan aid 148 in January and 157 in November. These facts are brought out in a study of county-administered relief, just made public by California Taxpayers' association.

Over the state as a whole, the county indigent case load dropped from 38,589 in January to 36,624 in November, the association found. The number of persons receiving aid to the needy aged jumped from 134,740 to 149,739 during the period. Those receiving aid to the needy blind increased from 6,933 to 7,351. The number of children receiving orphan aid went from 39,963 to 42,048. During November, these four kinds of welfare alone cost $7,625,304 in California.

The Hillbillies team includes Minnie Lee More, 5 ft. 10 inches; Darlene Nabors, six feet; Ruth Haynes, 5 ft. 9; Toby McGee, 6 feet, 2; Louise White, 5 ft. 11; Jo Darrows, 5 ft. 8 and Lorene Daniels, 5 ft. 8.

SUTTER HIGH TO TRAIN YOUTH IN FARM METHODS

During the last war there occurred a serious shortage of farm labor, impairing to a great degree the production of farm products necessary for war-time conditions. Farm labor went into the armed forces, or into war industry. Therefore, in order to nip in the bud reoccurrence of such conditions, there are being established throughout the state and nation a number of agricultural units in connection with high schools in the rural communities. In these shops young high school men will be trained in modern farming methods and in all phases of work connected with such, in order that they may assume responsibility in this field.

The National Youth Administration, in cooperation with the Sutter Union High School District, James Cherry, principal, announces plans to construct an agricultural shop and farm mechanics building on property recently purchased by the Sutter District. Cost of the building will amount to nearly $30,000, approximately 45 per cent of which will be borne by the National Youth Administration. Upon completion the agricultural unit, placed on 20 acres of the finest land in Sutter County, will represent one of the most modern and complete of its kind in the state.

"Local young men whose jobs it will be to construct the building will have an excellent opportunity to acquire skills in the construction field, carpentry, electricity, plumbing, painting, and plastering. The National Defense effort has placed a great burden on the building and construction trades. Demand for skilled labor exceeds the supply in many instances, and through the efforts of the NYA young men are constantly being trained to take their place in industry as capable and productive individuals—a credit to the community, an asset to national defense. Thus, a threefold purpose is served, training young men for industry, agriculture, and for national defense.

"Full-time technical supervision will be provided by an experienced construction foreman, a resident of this community, and such other technical experts as the progress of the work provides. In addition, an advisory committee of men from the building trades, department of employment, and school district will maintain close supervision over the work.

Applications for training will be received at the NYA Area office, 312½ D Street, Marysville."

HIGH SCHOOL WILL TANGLE WITH PACERS

Games Will Be Played In North Sacramento Tomorrow

The local high school Yellowjackets will travel to North Sacramento tomorrow night to engage the Grant Union Pacers in a brace of basketball games.

The Pacers downed both the local A and B squads in games here recently.

Coach Ed Frantz has been drilling his players consistently last week and this week in preparation for the Grant games. The locals hope to surprise the favored North Sacramentans as did the Grass Valley Miners last week. The Yellowjackets had a bye last week.

The games will apply in the Foothill League Basketball League standings.

Uncle Sam Would Grubstake Prospectors Under Haddy Plan

In the old days, prospectors seeking gold and other precious metals obtained "grubstakes" from friends or from promoters.

Now, it appears, Uncle Sam may step in and act as grubstaker using relief funds to search for metals and develop mines.

Richard Haddy, local miner, has received word that a plan he has evolved along these lines has been given the attention of the house committee on mines and mining and Congressman Harry L. Englebright of this city and Congressman J. S. Scrugham of Nevada will sponsor a bill embodying his plan.

The plan calls for men on relief rolls to work under mining engineers and qualified geologists selected by the state division of mines.

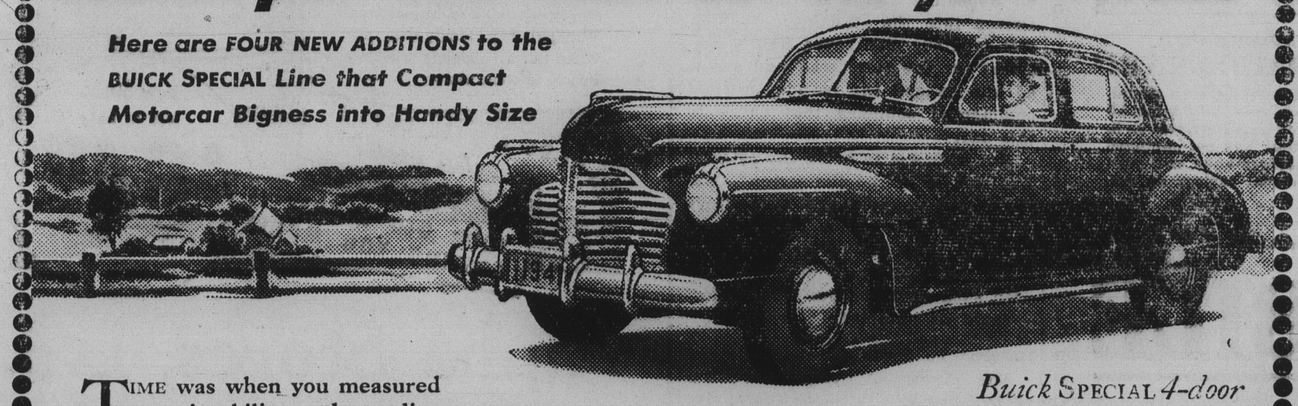
We've put one over on the yardsticks

Here are FOUR NEW ADDITIONS to the BUICK SPECIAL Line that Compact Motorcar Bigness into Handy Size



TIME was when you measured a car's ability and standing by the yardstick distance from bumper to bumper.

But not any more — not since Buick made ready the four new additions to its 1941 SPECIAL series that are built for big-car travel tastes — and small-car garages!

They are cars to take the measure of almost anything on the road in the lift and life of their 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL engines.*

They are cars with room for all the family, with all the little Buick luxury touches, with the unrivaled comfort of Buick's all-coil springing and steady-going roadability.

But bumper to bumper they are shorter — so they fit your garage.

Their wheelbase is 118 inches, so they park like a bicycle and flit through traffic with ridiculous ease.

They go farther on every gallon—farther, even, than other Buicks.

Buick SPECIAL 4-door Sedan, model 47, $1021.★

So you can't take their measure with a yardstick.

You've got to measure them by what they do for you—in the easier handling, the bigger thrill, the extra convenience they add — and by prices made lower by their new compactness.

How about seeing them — now?

*Add Compound Carburetion at slight extra cost and horsepower steps up to 125 while gasoline mileage goes even higher.

BUICK PRICES BEGIN AT

★delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories — extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

FOREST SERVICE AIDS YOUTH IN VOCATION WORK

The NYA project at the Tahoe National Forest headquarters is practically all filled with local and Grass Valley youths. According to Forest Supervisor Guerdon Ellis, these workers have all shown good promise and are doing an invaluable piece of work for the forest service as well as receiving training in various office work and clerical duties. The youths have all shown a keen interest in the work duties assigned as well as an eagerness to equip themselves for jobs in private industry. The NYA offers a training program for youths between the ages of 17 and 24, and pays them at the rate of 30c per hour for a maximum of 60 hours per month.

The following workers are now assigned: Dorothy Thomas, Virginia Carnie, Vernie Deschwanden, Mamie Fradelizio, Paul Snyder, Kenneth Mellott, Agatha Gates, Doris and Jean Kelley, all of Nevada City. Mack Ellwood of San Juan; Fay Kent and Marjorie Harris of Grass Valley. Joyce Henwood and Jane Elliott have also submitted an application, but have not as yet received their assignments.

According to Ellis, two more youths interested in engineering drafting and who have taken mechanical drawing in high school can still be placed.

PAUL MUNI IN HUDSON'S BAY OPENS SUNDAY

As is the case in many gigantic undertakings, the idea for the motion picture, "Hudson's Bay", grew out of an insignificant little detail. Oddly enough, it was the label on a Hudson Bay Company's liquor bottle that first attracted the attention of Associate Producer Kenneth Macgowan of the 20th Century Fox studios.

Fascinated by the company's full title, Macgowan did some lengthy research and the story and central figure behind it—one Pierre Radisson, "the First Canadian"—were so dramatically appealing that Macgowan was able to sell the studio the idea of making the picture which stars Paul Muni and comes Sunday to the Nevada Theatre.

Lamar Trotti, veteran film writer who had scored successes with such big pictures as "In Old Chicago" was assigned to write the screen play.

Pierre Radisson, around whom most of the action in "Hudson's Bay" revolves, was something of a paradox. Called a murderer, traitor, and renegade by most of his contemporaries, Radisson was all of these —and also a man driven by a dream so big few people of his time could grasp it.

A hard hitting, and ruthless man at times, Radisson was endowed with a certain rogish charm and depth of character which make him an appealing figure on the screen. Driven into the northern wastes, this fabulous man saved half a continent for the ruler who had ordered him hanged and founded a great commercial company that exists to this day.

But who was to bring the colorful Radisson to life on the screen? Conferences were held and suggestions considered. Production was delayed until the perfect man for the role—a star commensurate in importance with such an ambitious film project —could be obtained.
